CAPACITYBUILDINGONREFLECTIVEANDDESCRIPTIVELITERATURE

16THMARCH 2023 II YEAR BSW Batch:2021-2024

RESOURCE PERSON PROFILE:

Mr VIJAYAGANESH

Currently, I have been working as an Assistant Professor of English at Patrician College of Arts and Science, Adyar, Chennai, Tamil Nadu. I completed my PG and M.Phil at Madras Christian College. I was awarded PhD at Periyar University for my thesis entitled “Lesbian Post modern in Jeanette Winterson’s Oranges Are Not the Only Fruit, The Passion and Written on the Body”. I started my career at Christ University, Bangalore (2013-14). Then, I worked as an Assistant Professor at Central University of Tamil Nadu on contract basis for three years. In the present paper, I tried to read the character of Kannaki in the light of Simon De Beauvoir’s and Periyar’s concept of femininity.

OBJECTIVES

- To provide an overview of the different career paths in social work, with a focus on human resource management, community development, and medical and psychiatry fields.
- To help participants develop a clear understanding of the knowledge, skills, and experience required for success in these fields.
- To assist participants in identifying their personal strengths and areas for improvement related to social work and these specific fields.
- To provide guidance and resources for participants to network, gain experience, and access professional development opportunities in these areas.
- To facilitate connections between participants and experienced professionals in these fields to provide mentorship and advice.

PROGRAMME SUMMARY

The career guidance program for social work with a focus on human resource management, community development, and medical and psychiatry fields aimed to provide participants with an understanding of the various career paths available in social work and the skills and experience required for success in these fields. The program had five key objectives, including providing an overview of career paths, developing a clear understanding of required skills and experience, identifying personal strengths and areas for improvement, providing guidance and resources for networking and professional development, and facilitating connections with experienced professionals in the field. The program began by introducing participants to the different career paths available in social work, with a particular focus on human resource management, community development, and medical and psychiatry fields. Participants learned about the different roles and responsibilities associated with each career path and gained insight into the day-to-day activities of professionals in these fields. Following this, the program helped participants develop a clear understanding of the knowledge, skills, and experience required for success in these fields. Participants explored the education and training requirements, as well as the specific technical and soft skills needed for success in each area. They also gained an understanding of the industry trends, challenges, and opportunities in the field and learned how to navigate these effectively. The program facilitated connections between participants and experienced professionals in these fields to provide mentorship and advice. Participants were able to network with professionals in the field and learn about the challenges and opportunities they faced. This provided valuable insights and guidance for participants looking to build their careers in social work.

Overall, the program provided participants with a comprehensive understanding of the various career paths available in social work and the skills and experience required for success in these fields. The program's objectives were successfully met, and participants gained valuable knowledge, skills, and connections to support their career development in human resource management, community development, and medical and psychiatry fields.

OUTCOMES

- Increased awareness and understanding of the different career paths available in social work, leading to more informed career decisions.
- Improved knowledge and skills related to human resource management, community development, and medical and psychiatry fields, increasing employability and job performance.
- Enhanced self-awareness and self-reflection, allowing participants to identify their strengths and weaknesses and make intentional career choices.
- Expanded professional networks, providing opportunities for collaboration and support in the field.
- Increased access to mentorship and guidance from experienced professionals, leading to accelerated career growth and development.
