Objectives

- To offer academic support to students of St. Louis Institute for the Deaf and the Blind.
- To foster a sense of community service and empathy among students of Patrician College.
- To enhance the learning experience for students with disabilities through effective scribing.

Report Summary

From March 4th to March 13th, 2024 volunteers from Patrician College of Arts and Science dedicated their afternoons from 2 to 5 PM to assist students at the St. Louis Institute for the Deaf and the Blind by serving as scribes. This initiative involved aiding students in various subjects, including Tamil, English, Mathematics, Science and Social Science. The volunteers provided essential support in the form of writing assistance, thereby enabling the students to effectively complete their assignments and examinations. This collaborative effort not only enhanced the academic experience of the students at St. Louis Institute but also fostered a spirit of community service and empathy among the volunteers from Patrician College of Arts and Science. The program was a testament to the impact of inclusive educational support and the positive difference it can make in the lives of students with disabilities.

Feedback

The scribing initiative from March 4th to March 13th, 2024, by volunteers from Patrician College of Arts and Science received overwhelmingly positive feedback. The students at St. Louis Institute for the Deaf and the Blind expressed gratitude for the personalized assistance in subjects like Tamil, English, Mathematics, Science and Social Science. Teachers and staff at the institute noted a significant improvement in the students' ability to complete their tasks efficiently and accurately. The volunteers demonstrated remarkable patience, dedication and a genuine desire to help, which was evident in their consistent attendance and willingness to engage with the students. Some volunteers highlighted the experience as eye-opening and fulfilling, appreciating the opportunity to contribute to the students' educational journey.

Conclusion

The scribing program involving Patrician College of Arts and Science volunteers was a resounding success. The initiative not only provided crucial academic support to students at the St. Louis Institute for the Deaf and the Blind but also enriched the volunteers' understanding and empathy towards individuals with disabilities. This collaboration highlighted the importance of inclusive education and the positive impact of community service. Moving forward, incorporating feedback for better training and communication methods can further enhance such initiatives, ensuring sustained benefits for both students and volunteers. The program stands as a model of how educational institutions can work together to create a more inclusive and supportive learning environment.
